the educational institution structures the student's environment and provides for him a suitable frame of reference. yet, decidedly, it is the people whom we have met during our stay that have been most instrumental in making of these four years of life a college experience. paul klee's ancient sound is a painting without a beginning and without an ending. the relationships we have shared during these years had subtle beginnings, but their profound influences will have no end. the theme of this yearbook is people. the 1968 ciarla is dedicated to the memory of those years when youth's daring and idealism, its struggle for independence and self-identity, and its unsuspecting naivety have permitted the spontaneous formation of human relationships greater in intensity and in number than, perhaps, evermore. and, it is dedicated to the memory of those days of learning, involvement, emotion, and maturation through which the muhlenberg college community has guided, and gently prodded, each one of us.

in a sense we leave muhlen-berg much as we arrived — bearing anxious expectations towards tomorrow, reluctant to abandon the established security of yesterday, prone to move on from the neutrality of today. but more, we came — and we depart —

alone. each reader is invited, here, to reconstruct that which existed for him during the intervening years.

all of the arts, poetry, music, ritual, the visible arts, the theatre, must singly and together create the most comprehensive art of all, a humanized society, and its masterpiece, free man.

colleges and universities throughout the nation are presently experiencing the growing pains of a great transitional process and muhlenberg is no exception. the days of racoon coats have passed long ago; today the university is becoming, indeed, a self-contained community, where the world is studied out of context, the past is evaluated and we smile at follies, where the future is calculated on ideals. it is a place where we try on different identities for awhile and where we might finally discover one tailored to our own personality. it is here we experience a state of being which is less structured than it has been or will be.

during recent years the various ciarla staffs have arrived at the conclusion that the college's annual publication must not remain static during these years. it has become clear that the yearbook should more closely approximate a personal expression of four years of life rather than its traditional, cool, statistical "reference" book style. but, the muhlenberg community is often less receptive to change than it would admit. furthermore, too often the yearbook occupies the role of ego fulfillment. the problems of change are further compounded by a ciarla staff that changes and dwindles throughout the year; each fall requires an initiation into publishing for a new group of individuals. the student body is disinterested in much more than seeing their own names and pictures in print and offering caustic criticism when they fail to appear.

this issue has not sought to include every item from the academic year 1967-68 — limits of time, space, and money prohibit such an ambitious undertaking. furthermore, not everything assumed importance to all. it is the hope of the staff of the 1968 ciarla, not that 1500 people will be personally satisfied with the publication, but that we have accomplished enough to aid the books that follow in initiating more radical innovations in style and content. with many thanks to american yearbook representative bill o'brien without whose assistance and patience this production would have been less than possible.

Muhlenberg College

Sports

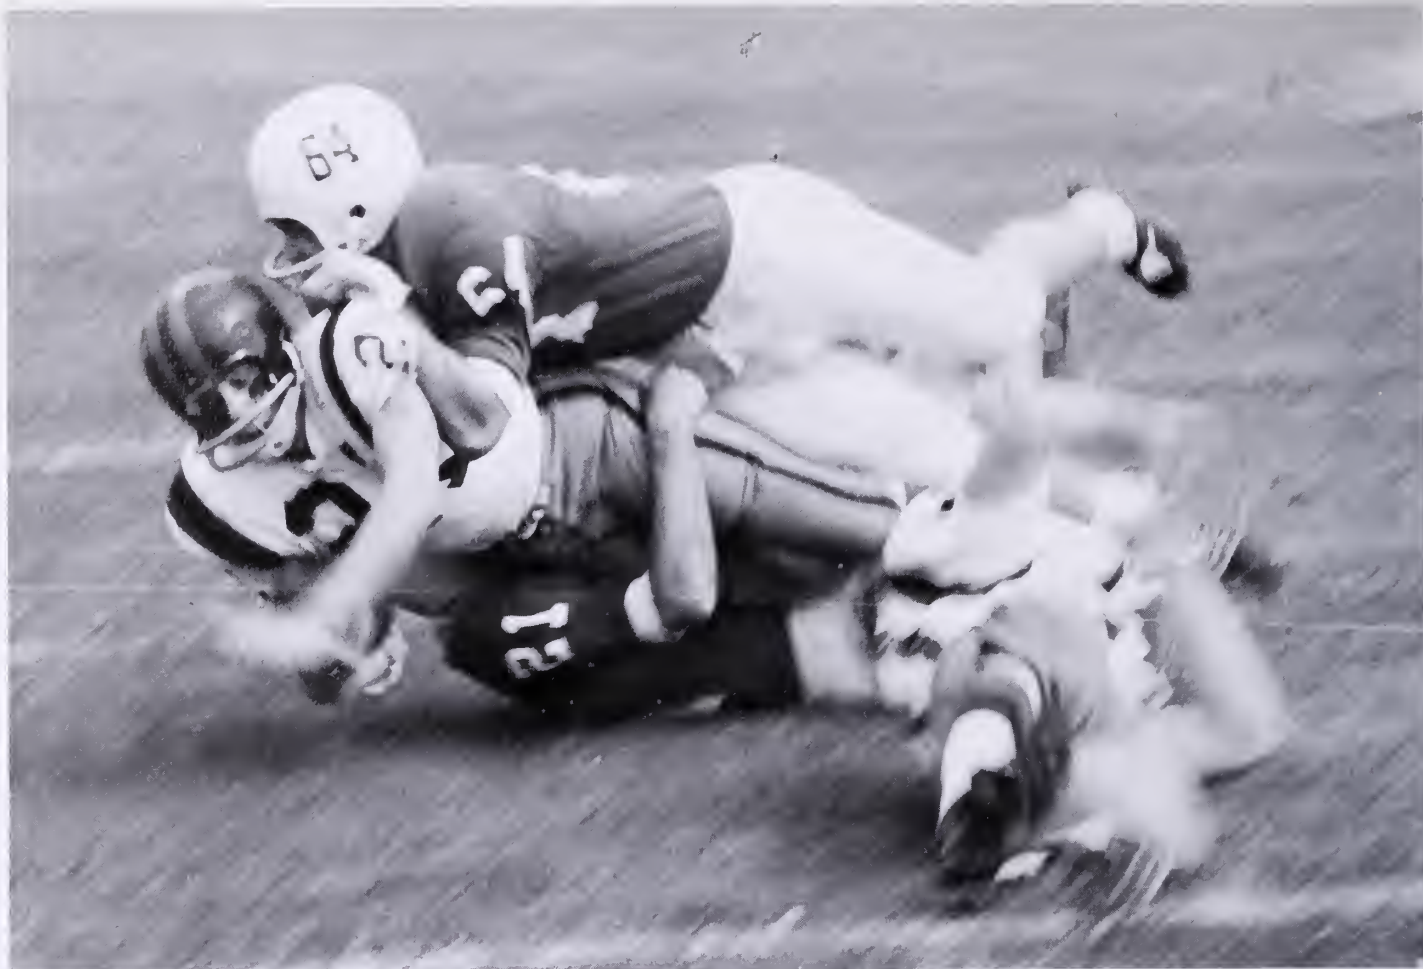

the gridiron

one might safely say that the mule's season log of 2-5-1 did not really reflect the calibre of the team. the forces of head coach ray whispell dropped three contests by a total of 12 points, and each of these games was lost in the warning minutes on come-from-behind drives by the opposition. muhlenberg presented one of its most potent offenses in years, but its defense was young and in some cases inexperienced. one gloats over performances by such freshmen gridders as randy uhrich, a former quarterback who sparkled in the running back slot for the mules with his crashing hard-nose style of play. tight end ted dick, although hampered by injuries later in the season, proved his ability with sure hands and good blocking as he filled in admirably for injured tri-captain don travis. injuries dampened the pre-season hopes placed on tom saeger. paul werrell showed mule fans the style of play on which one can comfortably place future hopes. noteworthy, too, is spirited and aggressive linebacker, mike harakal and extremely poised freshman bill evans. any mention of muhlenberg football during the past four years has brought thoughts of ron henry and justifiably so, for henry has been "mr. everything." his team value far exceeded his role of quarterback; he not only excelled in passing, but was one of the mac's top rushers. a take-charge type of guy, ron's ambition and drive was an inspiration to his teammates. most likely many seasons will pass before the muhlenberg gridiron sees another leader and sportsman the calibre of ron henry. offensive lineman frank churchman, tri-captain and middle guard chuck bargerstock, and tackles, sam tyler and john blend will certainly be as difficult to replace.

the 1967 season began on a sour note as berg managed no better than a 6-6 stalemate against ursinus. however, as if to serve as an indication of things to come, henry, along with dave yoder turned in brilliant individual performances. the following saturday saw muhlenberg bow to pmc 28-24 after blowing an 18-7 halftime lead in a real heartbreaker. senior fullback gordy bennett tallied three times for the mules. lebanon valley was berg's first victim as it fell to the tune of a 14-7 defeat. henry punctured the sails of the flying dutchmen with his clutch performances all afternoon and late in the fourth quarter he dropped back and rifled a pass into the arms of glue-fingered speedster mark hastie for the victory tally. And so it went — a homecoming throng witnessed one of mule's disputable defeats to dickinson, swarthmore proved to be a most satisfying victory, the mules were trounced by lycoming, and humiliated by franklin marshall. the gridders closed the season with a disappointing loss of 19-8 to moravian in which ron henry left the field without the mac rushing title. mule heroics did not go unseen and both henry and bennet were named to the mac southern conference, 1st team in the college division; henry and tyler were named to the all-lutheran team, and uhrich was cited for the swathmore game by being named ecac 1st team half-back for that week.

since it was initiated into muhlenberg's athletic program in 1943, the mules have struggled to keep their noses above water, managing only 6 winning seasons, four in the last four years. this year, however, the mules busted out with ten victories against only two setbacks, scored a record 36 goals, and turned in the most successful season in berg's 25 year soccer history. when coach lee hill announced his plans to leave muhlenberg many wondered how our rapidly-improving soccer team would fare. coach hill's spirit and drive, his ambition and hustle shone on the faces of every upperclass booter in september and accompanied them to each of their victories. coach ron lauchnor had a monumental task before him and "arrived" with flying colors. he took a team of high-spirited, but often erratic lettermen, added a few highly-touted neophytes, and molded them into a machine that became the cinderella team of the southern division, drawing praise and admiration wherever it travelled, both in victory and in defeat. berg's hopes were dampened by the mid-season injury of mike stoudt but the stellar performances of such men as fullback bob preyss and halfback co-captain lee krug, both named to the mac southern division all-stars, earned victories regardless. after an injury-ridden junior season, senior goalie and co-captain tony rooklin received honorable mention in the mac southern division all-stars, as did junior lineman ed gilroy. playing an aggressive, shades of "tom preston" type of soccer, frosh bruce fechnay scored ten of the mule's goals and earned an honorable mention in the all-pennsylvania-new jersey-delaware-area soccer team. the seniors are gone but the potential of frosh such as fechnay, appel, rittle, and knutilla, augmented by the spirit they inherited, permit an optimistic, thumbs-up attitude towards the seasons ahead.

the mules cross country team wound up with a winless 1967 season. facing teams strong in both quality and depth, the nine man team was virtually outclassed by most of its mac competition. the nearest the mules could get to victory was tight but losing attempts against scranton and albright. injuries accounted for a large portion of the team's failures — at one time or another six of the nine runners missed meets due to either injury or illness. in early november a tri-meet with pmc and philadelphia textile had to be forfeited because only four men on the team were healthy enough to run. the season ended on a somewhat brighter note when the mules ran in the mac's in philadelphia. there, muhlenberg beat scranton and albright on the belmont plateau, perhaps, the toughest course in the league, and offered its finest mac performance in several years. doug henry and ralph grimes were the outstanding runners of the season.

history continued to repeat itself as the 1967 field hockey team zoomed another winning season into its full cage of victories. soundly defeating six of its seven opponents, the team's only disappointment was a frustrating 1-1 tie against elizabethtown. as a result of muhlenberg's aggressive pursuit of the ball and never tiring defense, only three points were tallied against the team. playing hard and fast, the girls hit each ball as if it were the decisive one. coach jean hecht will miss the skills of her five senior lettermen, coralie bloom, betsy weller, judy jones, lyn vogt, and kathy harman, but looks optimistically towards the upcoming ranks.

basketball

muhlenberg's 1967-68 basketball team continued a recent tradition of winning athletics by capping the mules first mascac title in over two decades. led by mvp freshman bob mcclure the mules won the playoff staged in memorial hall by downing johns hopkins 92-53, and then topping ursinus in the finals. in addition, by virtue of their league championship, muhlenberg played in the ncaa mid-eastern regionals at albright. in this tournament of champions the mules found themselves out of their league, facing three teams, all of whom had won twenty games during their regular season. nevertheless, even in defeat berg's men offered a fine performance. moyer's men lost to eventual winner cheyney state by the score of 94-67, and then pushed nationally known philadelphia textile to the limit before dropping a high scoring 105-94 decision to the rams. during the regular season, the mules path to the championship was strewn with both glory and defeat. starting off the year with a "win one lose one" record, muhlenberg finally got on a winning trail by gaining five victories out of six games, including a strong fifth place finish in the christmas pocono classic. later in the season the mules continued their hot pace by walloping northern division runner-up lycoming by a then record score of 109-93. they then went on to take their second win of the campaign from neighboring moravian. the courtmen maintained their string by next beating haverford, before losing to scranton. the mules, facing one of their sternest tests of the season, destroyed eventual regular season champ johns hopkins 90-66. but the lowest part of the otherwise sparkling year lay ahead. Losing three games in a row to lehigh, lebanon valley, and dickinson, the mules playoff chances looked dim. but when the berg men came back to reel off a record 121 points against strong ursinus, things started to brighten up.

besides breaking a school team scoring record, the ursinus game was the scene of the best individual performance in some time. sophomore ned rahn returning to last year's form after recovering from a leg injury, tallied 43 points, tying the school mark. the season ended with the mules losing in overtime 80-79 to delaware valley and notching a playoff clinching 92-84 victory over contender pmc. highlights in the season were senior tom barlow who made all tournament teams in both the pocono classic and the ncaa small college regionals. mickey miller, continuing the promise he showed during his freshman season, was the team's most consistent rebounder, placing mascac's top ten. ned rahn maintained hot scoring pace the entire year and finished third in the league with just over an 18 point average. mike mathey added that playmaking ability so vital to a championship team, leading the squad in assists. tom hennessy and pat roth-deutsch proved invaluable in spelling the starters and in filling in when the regulars were injured. mike lester and bob shirk saw limited action, but much is expected of these talented freshmen. this year's team was a champion. with miller, mcclure, and rahn returning, along with most of the reserves, coach moyer can anticipate much of the same for the next few years.

the academic year of 1967-68 was born into unrest as leroi jones unwittingly led academic freedom in its fight (victorious) for life. the heroics of president erling n. jensen won the unconditional support (and hearts) of the student body and within a couple of weeks the college was again immersed in the mundane. pass-fail was initiated. the mules fell to defeat at the hands of dickinson on the homecoming gridiron and ron henry played his last season. hundreds danced in the aisles as motown psyched memorial hall; weeks later "negro canary" dionne warwick, after a perspiring two hour wait, provoked tears in her unsequined but artful performance. in november the faculty approved junior keys. muhlenberg's first affiliate artist norman paige refused to vocalize in the garden room and the proposed fine arts building moved up a notch (psychological) in priority. sometime on sunday, december 3 stuart davis' oil ursine park took its place among a series of campus art thefts. it hardly snowed at all. spring semester found the college's flag at half mast, mourning first the tragic loss of director of admissions dewey l. brevik, then the untimely assassination of martin luther king jr., and the sudden passing of english professor j. gysbert bouma. the muhlenberg community proudly accepted its charter from phi beta kappa. the young rascals never posted. berg's courtmen went to the mac's; the coffee house opened its doors. the announcement of the cancellation of graduate school deferments brought plans and unplans and groping. cries on other campuses against the war and its immorality were merely whispers at muhlenberg as the student body entrenched itself further into the security of the campus microcasm. the spring rains were less cruel and "tops-down" weather came early. new rushing rules were proposed regardless of wkap's april broadcast of the death of the greek system. everyone saw the graduate twice and simon and garfunkel were sold out days ahead of time. the festival of the arts? nationwide choice '68 balloting reaffirmed student support of senator eugene mccarthy. an architect's sketch of the new science building was released. the spring arcade received a good review in the weekly and otis redding experienced a renaissance. on june 2, following an extended period of laughter and tears, triumphs and defeats, loves and hates, and growths, the graduating class of 1968 passed silently into the world.

leroi jones, the 'power' controversy and certain other avant-garde elements contrived what could be called a variance of the more serious student uprisings founded on other college campuses — to the tune of academic freedom. compared to the florid and violent attitudes expressed at larger universities, muhlenberg's management of the issue suggested a lesser sequel to the cause of student privilege within the academic institution. nonetheless, the college image suffered. as was true in the case of hip' poet allen ginsberg, the neighboring community reacted unfavorably to muhlenberg's student aligned taste in assembly speakers. playwright and social critic, leroi jones, in particular, proved decisive in flaming the hearth of academic freedom reportee. early in october, 1967, president erling jensen was forced to deliver a statement of jones, in which a justification of his appearance was made in the light of the 62 more socially accepted guest speakers who had appeared last year. earlier, martha schlenker, chairman of the assembly program committee, was confronted by a local radio station to defend the language used by jones during his essay, read before the student body in september, 1967. the "epilogue to jones" was personified by none other than civil rights lawyer conrad lynn. the lawyer spent some 40 minutes exploring the enigma of jones' tirade of words and thoughts which had rocked allentown. and, although there were only a few derogatory epithets to the white man, and a pervasive suggestion to revolt directed to the negro, the conservative voice was about to be heard, and significantly, against the "assembly status quo." acknowledged facts, supposed to be true at the time, espoused that the president has resigned because the board of trustees threatened to pass a clearance restraint motion concerning the selection of campus speakers. what followed later was a six minute statement by the president denying the rumor and an assurance that he would continue "to make decisions . . . in the best interests of muhlenberg college . . . "

three days of hopeful glances skyward failed to reconcile the gods and the lehigh valley succumbed to heavy rain the morning of june 2. president erling jensen declared that his decision to hold exercises indoors was one of the easiest of his administrative career; he followed this declaration with the formal resolution of one of his most difficult decisions — that of his august 1969 resignation, poignantly, yet, unconvincingly presented. james farmer's eloquent oratory figuratively and, seemingly, literally lifted the dampness of the afternoon and the rays of a warm sun welcomed the graduates of muhlenberg's 120th academic class into the world.
